

In between jobs service

At DSI, we understand the value of your certified status, even when changing jobs. Our 'In Between Jobs' service is designed with you in mind, allowing you to maintain your DSI certification, even if temporarily not employed by a DSI participant.

Why is this important?

Possessing a DSI certification offers significant advantages in job applications, and we understand that you wouldn't want to lose these benefits, especially if you plan to quickly rejoin a DSI participant.

How does it work?

We've created a special process called "In Between Jobs." This allows you to maintain your certification for up to one year, even if you're no longer working with a participant.

What does it cost?

Utilizing the "In Between Jobs" service comes with a fee of €75. This amount is invoiced in advance to prevent any billing issues.

How to apply?

Requests for using the service can be easily submitted via certificering@dsi.nl, stating your DSI registration number. Send us the required information, including your name, registration number, and billing address.

What happens after your application?

Upon receiving your request, you'll receive a confirmation from DSI, outlining all conditions and payment information. Once the payment is received, your application will be processed further. You'll be added to the register under the category "In Between Jobs," and you'll receive an email confirmation with the automatic end date of the service.

What conditions apply?

1. Application to use the service can be made up to four weeks after leaving your current employer.
2. Use of the service is for a maximum duration of one year.
3. You can use the service if you intend to return to an institution affiliated with DSI within one year (as an employee or self-employed).
4. Using this service incurs associated costs that will be invoiced in advance.
5. If temporarily employed by a non-DSI-affiliated employer, you may not (online) present yourself as DSI-certified.
6. Participation in the DSI PE program (Continuing Professional Education) is mandatory.

Maintain your DSI status.
