

Educators for skills and knowledge exams

To be admitted to a DSI register you must, among other things, have successfully completed one or more exams. You complete these knowledge and/or skills exams at one of the DSI accredited training institutes. Below is an overview of the available providers per register. Click on the overview for further information.

Check in advance with your employer about arrangements

Register for one of the exams directly with an educational institute. Always check in advance with your employer whether certain agreements have been made with institutions. This means you to choose a certain provider.
